

T4 Collaboratives Professional Learning Communities

The PDST would like to invite teachers of Construction Studies, Design and Communication Graphics and Senior-Cycle Technology to participate in our collaborative groups. The initiative involve teachers coming together to form a professional learning community (PLC) in which to explore, share and build on good practice in the areas of teaching, learning, assessment and planning.

This PLC is being organised in response to feedback during recent workshops and webinars, where the opportunity to share and discuss practice with colleagues has been consistently identified as the most beneficial aspect of professional development. A key feature of the PLCs is that their focus will be decided on by participants.

This initiative will involve teachers meeting through zoom on four occasions across the school year. Dates and times will be decided to best suit participants.

Please indicate your interest in participating in this initiative by completing the Expression of Interest Form here or by scanning the QR code.
